LAWTON PASTOR CALLED BEFORE PROBERS TODAY

Scandalized Minister Will Explain Conduct To Judicial Board.

RESIGNATION HINTED

Irwin Announces He May Quit Church That Put Fire On His Head.

(By the Associated Press)

LAWTON, May 9.—The judicial commission of the El Reno Presbytery, which has jurisdiction in this territory, met here this morning to hear charges of "conduct unbecoming a minister of the Presbyterian church" against the Rev. Thomas J. Irwin, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lawton.

Mr. Irwin announced recently that he would resign from the church and his request for dissolution of his pastoral relations with the local church was to be presented to the commission this morning. This action, in the opinion of the members of the Presbytery, will eliminate the necessity of a trial.

When Jake L. Hamon, was buried at Ardmore more than two years ago, the Rev. Mr. Irwin preached the funeral services, eulogizing the former republican national committeeman. The pastor had been a constant supporter of Hamon and this with the funeral service brought dismay to his congregation, split the church, and resulted in part of the congregation leaving. Then last summer the minister married a couple in a bathing pool at a summer resort near here, and more withdrawals from the church followed.

Recent fires were discovered in that portion of the church built by Mr. Hamon and arrangements were made to destroy the motion picture booth placed in the church by Hamon. Then later, on Saturday night, the pastor was abducted by three unidentified persons, and he was found several hours later in a mud-hole near a summer resort near this place.

An investigation by county authorities followed, the result being that charges of arson were filed against the pastor and a member of the church board of session, which had resigned. Arraignment on this charge is scheduled for tomorrow. The county attorney announced that his investigation of the alleged abduction led him to believe that it had been arranged and the matter was dropped.

COLLEGE CHAMPS WIND UP SEASON WITH BIG 'FEED'

Coach Thompson's East Central collegiate baseball champions were entertained last evening at Allen's with a "feed" at which each member was a guest of the new management.

This is the first entertainment to be given in honor of the squad. Allen Standfield personally conducted the reception.

A three course luncheon was served. Following the dinner, a short meeting was held in which Homer Burkhardt was elected captain of the team for next year. Speeches by several men were made. The room was decorated in school colors and cut flowers. Relations of the team to the city league were also discussed.

Word was received from Shawnee this morning to the effect that tomorrow's game with the Oklahoma Baptist University had been called off on account of the death of Prof. Moore, head of the history department there. Funeral services will be held tomorrow, and the team will remain at home to attend them, the report said.

Due to the lateness of the word, no other team could be booked for a game on that date. Kingsfisher college will be here on Thursday for a game with the teachers. In case no school answers the challenge of the Ada college, there will be no other teams to dispute the championship claim of the local team.

High School Class Prophecy Places Ada Seniors in Many Walks

Following is the prophecy of the senior class of the Ada high school, read in general assembly last week at senior day exercises. Miss Oleta Montgomery is its author. She gave the place as Boston, Mass., and time some eleven years in the future.

"I was lying in the hammock reading Vay Duncan's latest novel and suddenly fell asleep. I heard a crash in the street. The butler, Renfro Herndon, and maid, Maurine Evans, ran to the scene of the accident. Maurine soon returned, telling me that a large fire truck had crashed head-on with another and smaller truck, which was being driven by Benny Shipman, and his bride, Anna Woodward.

"Fire Chief John Fleet was badly injured, she said, and two of his firemen, Byron Roberts and Robert Threlkeld, received slight injuries. Maurine hastened to tell me that neither the Ford truck nor its occupants were injured.

"This at once caused me to take interest of the affair and I hastened to the scene. A crowd had gathered and among them I saw several school day companions. Included among those directly interested were Dean Spencer, chief of police, and Ella Hays, a reporter for the 'Boston American.' Although I got to talk to Anna but a few minutes she told me that her wedding ceremony had been performed only a few minutes before the awful crash of the two trucks.

Meet "Reverend" Hawkins. "On further conversation with her I learned to my surprise that Rev. Hawkins had been engaged to perform the ceremony. Anna, interested in talking of anything to keep her mind off the accident until her scattered wits could collect themselves, told me that Nora Duty was the wife of the young minister. This unity had been effected only a week before, she said.

"Our conversation also brought me the interesting news of another wedding performed by the Rev. Mr. Hawkins. For just before her marriage, Anna said Juanita Horn and George Carr had been married. They were partners in a racket store preceding their marriage," she continued.

"Ella, after gathering the facts for an interesting story for her paper, recognized me and invited me to accompany her to a football game. The fact that Midget McCoy was billed to star for Yale had much to do with my ready acceptance, for how well I remembered my school days, when together we yelled for the "midget" on a gridiron far away.

All at the Game. "Through Ella's prestige as a representative of the press, we were permitted to enter the field, where I had an opportunity to talk with Jimmy. He had a lot of news for me, and while we talked I learned that John Whipple was Dean of Law at Harvard, and that Harvey Faust was a professor in the same department. He also told me that Clarence Fishbeck and Jeanette Bobbitt had made a fortune operating a gold mine at a point near Ada, our old home.

"Presently we returned to the press box and I was almost stunned to find Frank Van Eaton one of the gate keepers. Frank, his usual smile gone, looked sadly at me and although he was very busy at his post, managed to let me know the source of his trouble was the continued refusal of Sarah Daggs to accept his hand in marriage. Turning his talk from his tragedy, he gave me more news of former high school mates. Mozelle Sloan, Naomi Greer and Fannie Mae McCain were woman suffrage fanatics, he added.

"From the press box we had an excellent view of the football arena, band stand and grand stand. Music from the band pit attracted my attention and for the twelfth time within a few hours I received another shock. Burgess Steed was director of the smartly costumed musicians. Ella enlightened me by explaining that Burgess with his wife, Susanna Holman, were touring the country with the noted band, and that they were merely playing for the game to advertise the evening's concert.

Football De Luxe

"For a while after this startling revelation, I was deeply interested in the game. Ella was busy with her notes and I with watching the furious plunges of the Yale pigskin artists. Of course Jimmy did not disappoint us. His first touchdown was enough. Once during a period of rest, my attention wandered from the field. For a long time I had been experiencing a strange feeling, and suddenly I realized it was caused by some one staring at me from behind. I turned and looked into the eyes of the former Velma Gatewood. Her husband, George Bowman was by her side, and they were enjoying the game as one of the features of their honeymoon.

BASSINGER MAY FACE JURY HERE MAY 17 IS PLAN

Alleged Slayer of Child To Ask Depositions Outside of State.

ARRAIGNED MONDAY

Allen Man Bound Over On Murder Count Recently, Makes No Statement.

T. J. Bassinger, alleged murderer of his own child and that of his daughter, Ethel, will go on trial in district court here on a charge of murder May 17, according to a schedule announced today by District Judge J. W. Bolen following Bassinger's arraignment yesterday.

This will be a special term of court and will take up only the one case, it is understood. Immediately after date for the hearing was announced, counsel for Bassinger filed notice that on May 13 it would present a petition to be allowed to take depositions outside of the state. This, it is believed, may delay opening of the trial. The law firm of King and Crawford will represent Bassinger.

On April 27, Bassinger as bound over to the district court without bond by Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown. This followed a short preliminary hearing in which Ethel Bassinger, 22, the daughter-mother, appeared as principal witness for the state and related a series of incidents dating back several years in which she said Bassinger had been living in improper relations with her. She named him as the father of her child which was born April 1 and which she never saw.

Others Relate Story. Other witnesses for the state said they found the baby buried in an old shed, back of the house in which Bassinger, a widower, lived with his family, in Allen. This was almost two weeks after the alleged murder. Local doctors said they found a rag stuffed into the child's mouth and throat sufficiently tight to have stopped all breathing. The lungs floated, they declared. This is held by the prosecution to be evidence that the child had breathed.

Assistant County Attorney Hugh F. Mathis who will lead in the prosecution announced several days ago that charges of incest probably would be filed against Bassinger in Hughes county where he is said to have lived before moving to Allen.

Bassinger has made no statement in connection with the charges. Ethel Bassinger obtained a position here after the murder, preliminary.

QUET REIGNS IN RANKS OF BLACKS

No More Trouble Feared From Race Difficulty Over Lynchings.

(By the Associated Press) MEXIA, Tex., May 9.—Reports that uprisings among negroes of Freestone county for lynching of four negroes there since Friday had not materialized early today.

Local authorities say they do not anticipate any further trouble, although they have warned a negro to leave the county who was said to have been mentioned by one of the lynched negroes in his alleged confession of murdering last Thursday of Miss Ella Aweley, which precipitated the lynching.

A request to Governor Neff for state rangers to assist in quelling a possible insurrection was made by Sheriff Mayo early yesterday, but was cancelled later in the day when no sign of further trouble revealed itself.

Little excitement following the finding yesterday of the fourth lynched negro whose bullet punctured body was found swinging from a tree between Fairfield and Kirvin. A heavy rain had served to discourage outdoor action in this community.

Relatives of the dead girl have joined with Sheriff Mayo in declaring that no further violence will be tolerated.

SECRET SESSIONS OF G. O. P. FLAYED

Republican Tactics Used On Goldstein Affair Made Basis of Attack

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Appearance of Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri, before the republican members of the senate finance committee in support of Nat Goldstein to be internal revenue collector at St. Louis was criticized in the senate today by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, and defended by Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, finance committee chairman.

Senator Harrison who referred to the case as a "Goldstein nomination" protested against what he described as "secret sessions" of republican leaders to form legislative policies and said similar meetings were held on the sabbath legislation. Chairman McCumber said that the finance committee republicans were meeting daily to consider the tariff bill and Senator Spencer was before them yesterday to discuss a tariff matter, and also the Goldstein nomination.

Senator McCumber said a meeting of the full finance committee would be held in the near future to consider the nomination. Republican leaders reiterated privately that there was no chance for favorable committee action.

Champion Writer of Love Letters Taxed $75 Month

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 9.—Charles Mellon, Newmaker Bank building, St. Louis, today was ordered to pay $75 a month to his wife after he had admitted in court that he was the champion love letter writer of the world, and had sweethearts in every big city in the country. He was brought into court charged with non-support and Mrs. Mellon produced evidence in the form of love letters a foot high.

"What are those?" asked the judge.

"Love letters," said Mrs. Mellon. "He gets them from every large city in the country."

"Who are they from?" the judge asked Mellon.

"Well," was the reply, "some are from Mamie in Washington, Gussie in Pittsburgh, Anne in New York, Kate in Centerville, Ohio, Clara in Chillicothe, Tenn., May in Pittsburg, Dolly in this city, and—"

"That's enough," broke in the judge, "Pay your wife $75 on the first of every month."

ANNUAL MAY DAY FETE TOMORROW

College Athletic Field Too Soggy for Festival This Afternoon.

May Day festival of East Central Teachers College will be held Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 on the college athletic field.

This announcement was issued today by Miss Anna Weaver Jones, director, who with others connected with the pageant are hopeful that Wednesday will see a continuation of the good weather promised this afternoon.

The festival could not be held today, Miss Jones explained, because of the fact that the athletic field is muddy and will not be dry before tomorrow. All princesses who will assist in the pageant have been notified to be here tomorrow and more than twenty of them are expected to respond. Several came last week but on Tuesday, May 2, the fete was postponed until yesterday because of rain.

The cast for this year's festival is by far the most complete ever used by officials of the college said. Scores of visitors from high schools over the district are expected here tomorrow.

FORT WORTH NOW AT FIRE'S MERCY WITH NO WATER

Recurring Floods Cut Off City's Protections As River Goes Higher.

RAILROAD PARALYZED

Heavy Rail and Interurban Tracks Inundated and Bridges Gone.

(By the Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 9.—No life loss is yet reported in renewed flooding today but just as much damage done to property as that of two weeks ago, the Trinity was still rising at 7:45 a. m., and no cessation was in sight, according to the government weather bureau. The entire city is at the mercy of fire, as the municipal water supply has been cut off.

The number of homeless has been reduced to 300. Railroad service has been paralyzed in practically every direction, only three roads being able to keep their lines open.

Interurban service was resumed at Cleburne this morning, but towards Dallas cars are running only to Handley. Much new construction work on the Texas and Pacific over Mill Creek, to replace bridges swept away by the flood of April 25, was destroyed last night.

Flames Threaten City.

FORT WORTH, ex., May 9.—Fire breaking out in the heart of the business district at 10:45 a. m., is threatening a wide area. The firemen were handicapped at first by lack of water. However, at 11 a. m. some water became available. Efforts are being made to confine the flames to one building that occupied by the Drumm Seed and Floral company.

By calling out all available apparatus and the use of chemicals and water still in the mains, the flames were brought under control at 11:15 this morning. At the same time, the big pumps at the municipal water plant, stopped since midnight by flood waters, were got into action and the mains are now being filled again.

200 are Refugees

DALLAS, May 9.—Two hundred residents of West Dallas abandoned their homes early today and took refuge on nearby hillsides from the waters of the rapidly rising Trinity river, which had reached a stage of 40.9 feet at 9 o'clock this morning. Deputy sheriffs in boats were rescuing several families in the lowlands, west of the Dallas county court house, who had been surrounded by the swiftly rising waters. They were not in danger, the sheriff's department reported.

Pontotoc Men Seek Hospital Care Now When Health Breaks

Finley Tolison left Monday for Fort Bayard, N. M., to enter the U. S. P. H. S. hospital for treatment. Hamp Porter left last week for El Paso, Texas, where he will enter a government hospital for the tubercular. Luther Shaver, a Pontotoc county lad under treatment for tuberculosis at Fort Bayard, 37, M., is improving. Mrs. Sneed has been informed.

BIBLE THOUGHT OF TODAY
IN PLEASANT PLACES:—The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup; thou maintainest my lot. The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage.—Psalm 16:5, 6.

GRATITUDE.

Gratitude is one of the greatest forces of civilization. Without it we would be little better than the beasts. With it, we are able to reach the heights of the angels. With it, an individual is able to draw to him strong friends and hold them with hoops of steel. Without it, an individual soon finds himself friendless and alone.

If we were to be always grateful for favors rendered we would soon reach the millenium. There is scarcely an individual in one's acquaintance who has not at one time or another rendered a favor. The trouble with us is that we forget the favor when a real or imaginary wrong is committed. Instead of putting first first and second second, we put first second and second first. In other words, instead of remembering the favor which has been rendered, we remember only the wrong. That is not the way to happiness. The way to happiness is by remembering the favors and forgetting the wrongs.

Not long ago we discussed in these columns the gratitude of public men, saying that sometimes they are seemingly un-mindful of the sacrifices of individuals and appear ungrateful. As a matter of fact, however, a person is not ungrateful to an individual if by granting him a favor he is injuring the public. For after all, the public is made up of individuals. It is not likely one can favor a part by injuring the whole.

The world should come more and more to appreciate the strength of gratitude. One should train himself to remember the good things and forget the evil things that have been done or said about him. We have made many improvements in the material things of the world. We have conquered the depth of the sea, the invisible air, and obliterated distance. With the push of a button we may have light or heat or music or news or with the passing of a few hours we may be on the other side of the earth. With all our vaunted civilization, however, we have never found a way to improve on the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," or as the Chinese put it, "Don't do to others that which you would not have them do to you."

THE PORK BARREL

President Harding says the expenditures of the United States for 1922 will be a billion less than for the preceding year. However, it should be remembered that congress has not yet adjourned and that most of the members will have to have various and sundry appropriations for their districts if they stand any chance of getting another term. As a matter of fact this very thing of log rolling for appropriations is one of the greatest obstacles in the way of a reduction in our expenditures and a cutting of the tax rate. It has come to be accepted that unless a congressman can squeeze out a lot of public money for his particular district he is not much force. Hence the practice of log rolling and pork barrel politics. No one familiar with the Canadian river would consider it possible to make it a navigable stream, but millions have been spent on projects just as impossible simply because some congressman wanted to make a record that would insure him another term and had the pull necessary to grab off a slice of public money. His constituents considered that he was a shrewd fellow who was taking care of his district and hailed him accordingly. Until a member of congress is recognized as owing a duty to the entire nation and not just to his own district there is little hope for such relief.

Evidently royalty has about lost all the hold it once had on the world. Only a few thrones are still standing in Europe and the crowned heads are not given the old time reverence. It is reported that young King Boris of Bulgaria has been so hard hit that he is selling off the contents of his wine cellar at bargain prices in order to keep the wolf from the door. The war knocked the pins from under his nation and drove his father into exile and the young man now has to shoulder a heavy load.

Conan Doyle, the creator of Sherlock Holmes, says he has often talked with spirits of the departed. If he has he has evidently found out but little. Perhaps when radio has reached a point somewhat nearer to perfection he will be able to tune in with the spirit land and give us a regular spook entertainment occasionally.

Courtesy pays the biggest dividends of anything we know of and it does not require the investment of a cent of cash. Anyone can acquire it and make it highly profitable. No one loves a grouch. Be a grouch and you will be lonely. Be courteous and you command the respect of all about you.

The poet and painter have souls attuned to catch echoes and glimpses of a sphere of life beyond the ken of the ordinary run of humanity and it is their mission to translate these into language the senses can grasp and appreciate.

Our Neighbor's Property and Ours.

(Chickasha Express)
Our neighbor a few blocks down the street lives in a spacious handsome home, set in the midst of a pretty yard where the grass is well-kept and flowers grow in profusion. He owns the property and we are sure that he is proud of his home as he ought to be, and that he enjoys it. But despite the fact that his warranty deed gives him the right to "have and to hold the same, together with all and singular tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, or in anywise appertaining, forever," does he really own all of this beautiful piece of property?

No—not by a jugful. Of course, our neighbor could go to court and maintain against all contestants his title to his property, but that would not debar us from holding our "working interest" in it. To be sure, we can't actually move into his house and live in it, but every time we pass by, we can admire its symmetrical proportions and its graceful outlines, and we can feast our eyes every day on his roses, and any time we choose we can walk right into his house, for he is a hospitable sort of fellow. And besides all these things, this house is in our town and we have an interest in everything here and why shouldn't we be proud of it and enjoy it? Regardless of his legal claims, we deny absolutely that our neighbor is the exclusive owner of his home, and we deny similar claims of all others who own homes which we can admire to our heart's content without asking permission of anybody.

What does it matter even though we live in a "we cot" as long as we can enjoy beautiful things at the expense of our neighbors? There isn't an attractive home, a pretty yard, or a flowerbed in town which isn't part ours and nobody can keep up on enjoying them. It could add but little more to our pleasure if we owned all of them in "fee simple" and it would make a lot more worry for us. And in addition to our "vested rights" in all this pretty property, we own as much of the blue sky above as anybody. Sunrise and sunsets, as glorious as grow anywhere—yes, we own these too, and no telling how many stars that "blossom in the infinite meadows of heaven." How much more do we need or want? Surely, we're rich enough.

Wood Alcohol.
(Bartlesville Examiner)
Every patron of a bootlegger occasionally has a bad moment when he wonders if, by any chance, the stuff he has just swallowed puts him next on the list of wood alcohol's victims.

Millions of people discuss wood alcohol daily. Yet the average person knows next to nothing about this mysterious poison, except that it removes varnish, and causes blindness and death, and is used by unscrupulous bootleggers because it is cheap.

So, Watson:
Methyl alcohol, commonly known as wood alcohol, was first discovered in 1812 by the research chemist, Taylor.
It is formed by the destructive distillation of wood. Also, it can be made from formaldehyde, intentionally or accidentally. You observe the possibilities of synthetic hooch made from alcohol that has been "spiked" with formaldehyde, or other poisons, by government order, to make it unfit for beverage purposes.

Intoxication from wood alcohol is similar to the effects of pure bonded liquor—at first.

It intoxicates slowly and is remarkable for the duration of its "hangover," as undertakers will testify.

A teaspoonful of wood alcohol is sufficient to cause blindness, beginning with double vision, falling of the body's temperature, loss of sensation in the nerve centers, and rhythmic convulsions.

A drink of wood alcohol causes blindness 90 times out of 100, and usually means certain death, though sometimes the patient lingers for as long as a year.

Here is a sentence which, if written indelibly in every brain, would save many a life:

"It is worthy of note that in many cases methyl alcohol amblyopia" (beginning of blindness) "has resulted from the excessive use of essence of ginger, or peppermint, or other aromatics, in the preparation of which the alcohol has been used as menstruum" (solvent).

That is a quotation from the United States Dispensatory, the official medical guide used by druggists and physicians.

What to do when some one has swallowed wood alcohol? Rush for a doctor. Even he can do little except strive to get it out of the system cause free sweating and administer large doses of sodium bicarbonate dissolved in water. Ethyl alcohol—the grain alcohol of so-called pure whiskey, sought by many as the elixir of youth—consists of a combination of two atoms of carbon, one of oxygen, six of hydrogen.

From that, take two atoms of hydrogen and one of carbon, and you have wood alcohol.

Funny, what a difference just a few atoms make.

In 75 years, from 1783 to 1857, the kingdom of Naples lost nearly 112,000 inhabitants by earthquakes, or more than 1200 a day.

INTERNATIONAL GROUP TO WORK ON RECOGNITION

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—Appointment of an international commission to consider all the issues involved in the recognition of the Obregon government in Mexico has been suggested in some official quarters as a solution of the continued failure of the United States government and Mexico City authorities to agree on a recognition program.

Although the United States still insists that a positive guaranty against confiscatory provisions of the Mexican constitution of 1917 must precede recognition, it was intimated today that a committee to continue negotiations would be agreed to here if it were suggested formally by General Obregon. No such request has been received as yet.

TEST FOR REPUBLICAN BLOCK NOW IN SIGHT

For every dollar you put into a Coldwell Lawn Mower you get full 100 cents value.

Coldwell's are the lasting kind. Always ready to use. None of that waiting to have them sharpened.

Coldwell's have been on the market since 1855. The largest lawn mower factory in the world is their home.

Coldwell materials and workmanship are what make the Coldwell product supreme.

You pay a trifle more for a Coldwell, but in the end they cost you less—you save money on repairs and for re-sharpening.

You can forget where the "repair shop" is if your lawn mower is a Coldwell.

School Issue Voted Without Opposition In Maxwell Election

Maxwell last week without a dissenting ballot voted approximately $5,500 in school bonds for the purpose of rebuilding and enlarging the building which was partly wrecked by a windstorm several weeks ago. County Superintendent A. Floyd has been informed.

The new building will be a 4-room brick structure, built on the site and using material of the old.

Work is expected to start soon. Galey school district also plans to add to its building and include one year for high school work in its course of study. Prof. and Mrs. Finch are teachers there now.

Teachers for nearly all schools of Pontotoc county have now been hired. Mr. Floyd reports, and the machinery is practically complete for next year. Salaries are slightly below those paid this year, the decrease in most cases averaging about 5 percent. The standard of teachers, however, will be somewhat better, the county superintendent said.

WOBBLY LAMB IS GUARDED BY TWO DANISH CANINES

TOLEDO, O., May 9.—A tiny, wobbly-legged lamb which snuggles down between two great dogs in the animal house in the Zoo at Walbridge park here gives visitors another side of the strange life there.

The recent experience at the zoo, in which Keeper Louis Scherer was severely injured in a hand-to-hand struggle with a giant ape, furnished a picture of unyielding hatred, but that of the lamb and the dogs shows a striking contrast.

Half starved, temporarily blind and suffering from cold, new-born lamb was found in one corner of the animal yard. It was such a dilapidated little mite that even the mother had deserted it.

Keepers carried it into the animal house, fed it warm milk out of a bottle, and greased its body and furnished it a cozy bed in a box near the stove.

The two Great Dane dogs, almost as big as Shetland ponies, immediately adopted the lamb. The lamb is now several weeks old. It prefers, instead of the man made bed provided for it, a place between the two big dogs as they sleep by the fire. And so warm is the affection between this strange trio that not even the keepers dare approach the lamb without preliminary warning words to the big Danes.

The tender care of the keepers and the dogs has restored the lamb's sight and health.

PROPHECY UNIQUE ADA HIGH'S CLASS

"Excusing myself from Ella, who had to hurry back to her desk at the office, I joined Velma and George. Together we went to dinner at the Rushing-Moore cafe, owned and operated by Charles and Edith. During the dinner hour, I had ample opportunity to talk with Velma, who gave me much additional information concerning my school mates of high school days.

"One of her stories concerned Verna Graham, who although married seemed unhappy. Velma said that Verna alternated from happiness to sorrow, and that she had failed to be of much assistance to her. Velma told me that she had seen Anna Laurie Hill the summer previous, while in Chicago. She was engaged in the fascinating business of training monkeys for the Greater Honest Bill Shows.

A Maker of Toys.

"I soon learned that my companions were planning to visit Charles Cunningham, and his wife, Alice Gowing, before ending their honeymoon. They were living in Richmond and Charles was engaged in the manufacture of toys. Dolly Gay was a trapeze actor and tight rope walker, George said. Russell Boud was making a success with his voice, George continued, for he was a salesman for the Book of Knowledge.

"In the evening I accompanied the newlyweds to the Bobbitt Theatre, where we saw Jesse Cales as the leading lady in the latest screen hit, with Terry Manville playing opposite her. One of the most interesting numbers on the evening's program was the singing of the famous Oklahoma Trio, with Bess Knighton, Evelyn Brown and Edith Mae Qualls its personnel. Gladys Ryan was vocal soloist, accompanied by Opal Deen with the banjo. The proprietor, recognizing us, came to our box and sat with us during the show. She told us Louise Meaders was making a success with her dancing in London. Also told me that she had information to the effect that Ruth Young and her husband was elephant hunting in Africa and that Irene Deering was a missionary there. As our theatre friend had just returned from California, she knew of the success of Mildred Collins and Mildred Laughlin as proprietors of a school for Girls out of San Francisco. She said Elizabeth Myers was governor of Utah and that Harriet Roach was her private secretary.

On to the White House.

"I was listening eagerly to the conversation of Mrs. Bobbitt when suddenly she suggested we look up Geraldine Hale. Bob Geraldine, an associate of Mrs. Bobbitt's, saved us the trouble, for she came to the theatre with great news. As Mrs. Bobbitt was in our box, Geraldine hastened there, and after exchanging greetings, exclaimed: "Oh, Mrs. Bobbitt, have you heard the news. I have just been nominated for president on the democratic ticket. Here is the telegram from my representative at the convention. "She was so excited that we never got to talk with her, for there were others to whom she wished to tell the great news. As she danced out of the door, a mist seemed to enshroud me, and suddenly clearing, I found myself lying in the hammock. My book had fallen to the ground."

FINE SHOWING OF ADA BANKS

Statements of Institutions
Splendid Testimony of Efficient Management.

The statements of the four banks of Ada appearing in this issue of the News are well worth a study, proving as they do that these institutions are among the most solid in the entire state. In spite of the adverse conditions of the past two years they are holding their own remarkably well and their statements indicate that the finances of this section of the state are in far better condition than one might at first thought imagine. The combined assets of the banks are approximately $3,500,000 and their deposits total $2,676,140, although at this period of the year when there is comparatively little to bring money into the country, and when the farmers are making their crops, deposits naturally shrink. It is worthy of note that although there have recently been some disastrous bank failures in other parts of the state the two that closed their doors in Pontotoc county were soon opened again and are doing business as usual, having passed the crisis in their affairs.

All four Ada banks have ample cash resources to take care of every possible emergency. With banks like these in the community, there is no reason for anyone to have a feeling of uncertainty and deposit his cash in an old shoe in preference to leaving it with a bank where it will be kept in circulation and where it can be checked on at a moment's notice.

The agricultural interests of Pontotoc county are its greatest resource and the banks have done all in their power to develop these and have given all possible encouragement to the men who sought to improve their livestock and crops. Whether in the matter of selling pure bred stock on easy terms, securing the best seed for planting, helping to find the best markets or in anything else the banks have always been ready to help matters along. Those who have lived here for any length of time need not be reminded of the rapid strides that have been made in recent years in all lines of agriculture. A mental comparison of the stock and farm products exhibited at the first fairs of the county with those seen more recently is in itself an antidote for pessimism.

In speaking of the advantages of Ada not long ago a stranger who had been in the city only a few days said:

"Ada appeals to me from several points of view. You have wonderful schools. You churches are aggressive and doing a great work. The bankers are accommodating, friendly and efficient. There is not a city in the state that has more able bankers or any sounder banking institutions than Ada. If good schools, good churches and good banks will not help make a town, I don't know what will."

The banks of Ada and Pontotoc county have shown they are not only willing but anxious to co-operate with those who till the soil in working out a sound agricultural system. Now since the boll weevil has hit the county a stiff blow, it is becoming apparent more hogs, dairy stock and poultry must be raised. Were it not for the co-operation of the banks in this worthy endeavor, it would have been almost impossible to have made any strides this year. As it is, hundreds of farmers believe they have found the road to independence without the use of so much cotton. When this county eventually ships out thousands of hogs a year, hundreds of cars of chickens and eggs and cars of dairy products every day, the banks can take a good portion of the credit for getting that started to themselves.

Strong banks are an asset and a necessity to any ceding economists expects to grow. Community which say the way for Americans to get South American trade is first to establish banks there to handle the money. It takes capital to build a country, and capital naturally calls for banks.

Vet Doesn't Press Complaint Like He Does His Love Suit

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 9.—Alexander E. Robertson, British war veteran, did not press his case before the British embassy's office today with the same ardor which he is reported to have pressed his suit for the hand of Miss Mary Culbertson, 21-year-old daughter of Senator Culbertson of Texas.

The British veteran was reported to have arrived in Washington on an early train from Newark, N. J., and was preparing to lay before the embassy his charges that as the outgrowth of the romance involving the Texas senator's daughter, private detectives had kidnapped him and attempted to railroad him out of the country. Up to noon, however, he had not put in his appearance at the embassy and attaches said they had heard nothing of him.

RUSSIA URGED MONDAY TO ACCEPT MEMORANDUM

(By the Associated Press)

GENOA, May 8.—Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Minister Schapner of Italy addressed today a strong appeal to Russian representatives at the conference here urging them to accept the allied memorandum in its main points and promised Russia an international loan, with the understanding that the lending countries thus provide funds for reconstruction of Russia.

The allies would claim the right to make certain, however, that the money loaned was actually invested in the work of reconstruction. It was asserted that altogether, the proposed loan would amount to 300,000,000 gold francs. It has been declared that the Russians were asking 300,000,000,000 gold rubles, or 25 times as much as the allies offer.

Only seven railroads in Canada out of 56 operating paid dividends in the last fiscal year.

Farmers' Column By Byron Norrell

Mrs. Duvall reports some interesting club meetings held last week. On Monday she and Miss Diehl, district agent, met with the girls sewing club at Frisco. Nineteen girls were present and good progress made. Wednesday the boys and girls of Lovelady held their regular monthly meeting. The excellent reports they made indicated that they are doing well with their work. The canning club of Parish Chapel met Thursday with every girl present. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Duvall's office in Ada when a lesson in canning beets will be given. The boys and girls of Pickett held their regular monthly meeting Friday. Several of the ladies were also present and made a start towards organizing a women's canning club. They will meet at Mrs. Duvall's office Saturday of next week. The girls and boys plan to hold their June meeting at the offices of the agents.

From some quarters there comes a lot of advice to the farmers about keeping down the cotton acreage this year. As for myself I have no advice to offer, for the very good reason that at present one man's guess is as good as another's. If any one knew for certain what the boll weevil is going to do he would know how to plan his cotton crop. I occasionally read about the wonderful performances of fortune tellers, clairvoyants and their kind, but for the life of me I can't understand why they are not on the job here at this time. One could make a good sized fortune if he could see enough of the future to know if it would be safe to insure the farmers a good crop. Every farmer would pay a liberal insurance premium on such a proposition.

Home Conveniences By W. H. McPheeters Extension Farm Engineer, A. and M. College.

This is an age of invention, and hence, conveniences. Man has invented nearly everything conceivable for his convenience and a great many people are taking advantage of these things that make work easy but a great many have not done so for various reasons, a few because they are not able financially to do so, and many because they really do not know how much the work is lightened by the use of them.

To have modern conveniences in the home means that the housewife can do her work without being worn completely out when night comes. At first thought many will say that these home conveniences are for the city people, but when one sits down and figures out that it is not such a very expensive luxury after all, I believe more people will install the various labor saving conveniences in the farm home. Too many people have already moved to town to get these conveniences of life, not realizing that they can be had on the farm. The time has come when the farm has to be made a place to live rather than to exist in order to keep the right sort of people on the farm.

On the average large farm the man has modern machinery with which to do his work but forgets that his wife's work can be done by modern machinery also, and they cost less than his machines. Many men are liable to call some of the modern household conveniences "fandangles" and say they have always gotten along without them. So they have and so did man get along without mowing machines, binders, etc., for a long time but will he go back to these crude ways of doing things? No. Then why not let the wife use machinery which will reduce her work in proportion; running water in the home, power washing machines, electric irons, etc.? Everyone cannot have the electric iron, washer, etc., but nearly all can have running water in the home and a sewage disposal system. There is no one thing that causes more drudgery for the housewife than carrying water into and slop out of the house.

The wife is entitled to these things and I cannot help but believe that it is the man's duty to see that she has them. Her work on the farm is hard enough at the easiest. Sit down and figure a little and see if you cannot afford to make your wife happier by making her work easier. Putting running water in the house is a good place to start.

Home Beautification.

The clubs of the county have taken up the subject of home beautification. It is their object to devise ways and means of improving the appearance of both the interior and the exterior. This also happens to be a hobby of Mrs. Norrell's and she has contributed the following suggestions as a starter. Other features will be taken up later.

Good Roads Made Into Cool Shady Avenues.

There are several things "in the making" in our county—dreams we might call them. We are all dreaming of hard surfaced roads and making plans to bring those dreams to pass. Now with those plans why not make our highways, and by-ways, beautiful driveways by planting trees along them. We need not go farther than our own creeks and ravines to get our trees for planting. We have sycamores, elms, cottonwoods, hackberries, oak and numerous other trees that will transplant and thrive if set properly and at the right time of the year.

Our women's and girls' clubs over the county are taking up the subject of Home Beautification, both inside and out. That's our first step in the Rural Landscape work—let's keep it moving for as each rural yard begins planting its shrubs and flowers, the fences will soon come in for their share of adornment. What could be more beautiful than a roadside hedge of Dorothy Perkins roses or wild roses from our own creek banks? In many of our Eastern states you will find many farms surrounded with hedges and in England almost all farm fences are made of the hawthorne bush. Down at Tehuacana, Tex., you will find one of the finest orchards surrounded with a six foot hedge of wild roses. It is useful as well as ornamental for neither marauders nor animals can go through or over it. Let's begin dreaming of a day that we can drive the length and breadth of Pontotoc county in one continuous shady lane. How about it?

Question: Why Did Mary Have a Lamb? Answer: Mosquitoes

Have you a little mosquito in your home? Or twenty little mosquitoes—or fifty? Civilization has done much for the mosquito. Homes for them are afforded in almost every back yard. Discarded bottles, stills, mash barrels, tomato cans and wash boilers make beautiful country homes, exclusive clubs and community centers for mosquitoes.

A doctor yesterday gave a bit of the history of malaria. He mentioned among other things, the fact that the mountaineers in Continental Europe kept sheep in their huts as a preventative of malaria. He said: "Sheep occupied the cabins at periods when the famished mosquitoes inflicted their bites upon these animals after which they showed little tendency to bite man." He doesn't, however, suggest this as a manner of ridding this city of the malaria menace.

Perhaps it explains why Mary had a little lamb.

He says that every citizen should be careful that there are no stagnant pools of water about his home, and that every effort should be made to rid marshy districts of pools in which mosquitoes would be likely to breed.

If low places are drained and filled in, there is no chance for mosquitoes to breed. If draining is found impracticable, the surface of the water should be covered with crude oil. This will prevent the wigglers from developing into adult mosquitoes.

To Install Pastor

Rev. D. D. Whitwell, D. D. Who will be installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

At a congregational meeting held April 9, on recommendation of the pulpit committee and the official board, Dr. Whitwell of Edmond was issued a call to become pastor of the local Presbyterian church. He accepted and action of the congregation was communicated to the presbytery by one of its elders. The Presbytery in turn called for a special meeting to be held Wednesday, May 10, 1922, at Ada to receive Dr. Whitwell as a member of this Presbytery and at the same time made arrangements to install him as pastor of the local church on the same day at 8 o'clock p. m.

Rev. Thomas Carey, a former pastor of the local Presbyterian church, will preach the installation sermon. It is customary for other ministers of the Presbytery to assist in such services, one to give the charge to the congregation and another to give the charge to the pastor. Just who will assist Rev. Carey in the service could not be ascertained today. After the installation service a social hour will be spent when refreshments will be served by the ladies of the church. This is an open meeting and the public is invited.

The air-breathed daily by a human being weighs about six times as much as the food and drink he consumes in the same period.
